

Numeracy Box for parents & children

Information leaflet.

The activities on these cards are designed to fit into busy lives – to help parents and carers support numeracy at home in a range of different ways.

Choose any card from the box.

There is no set order to do them in – start with any that you and your child like the look of.

You don't need much to get started – paper, pens and some counters are the things you will need the most. Hundred squares, other grids & spinners are available as free printable downloads on the website.

For many of the activities there is no one 'right' answer. Have fun exploring some of the possible answers there might be.

Keep the card for as long as the activity is interesting and fun. When it stops being fun – STOP doing it! Keeping it enjoyable is really important.

Then simply bring it back and choose another one.

If there is anything in any of the activities you are not sure of ask someone at school to help you out.

HAVE FUN!

Sue Dixon

www.thinkingchild.org.uk